Interested persons are encouraged to run for directorships after the minimum membership requirements are met. To run for President, a member must have retained membership in good standing for a minimum of 12 consecutive months immediately preceding the AGM in which they are running. For all other elected positions, a member must have retained membership in good standing for a minimum of 6 months immediately preceding the AGM in which they are running. Members without these requirements may proceed as long as the membership present at the AGM ratifies the nomination by a 2/3 majority.

A sitting director may run for a new position at any AGM. Elections for any positions made vacant during an AGM will take place following elections for regularly scheduled positions.

A sitting director may choose to run for a consecutive term in the same position at an AGM during which their term expires. Should a director choose to run for the same position for more than 2 consecutive terms, the nomination may only proceed if it is ratified by a 2/3 majority of the membership present at the AGM.
